It could save someone's life.

Is someone you love at risk of opioid overdose? YOU could save their life with naloxone.

Naloxone is simple to use and reverses overdoses caused by heroin or other opioid drugs.

If there is any possibility that you might experience or witness an opioid overdose, it is vital that you and the people around you know where naloxone is kept and how to administer it.

PBHR WA can provide you with free take-home-naloxone and, in just 10 minutes, we can teach you how to recognise and respond to opioid overdose with confidence.

It could save someone's life.

To access this life saving tool, drop in to PBHR WA. If you can't come to us, we can provide a brief education session over the phone and then post take-home-naloxone to you anywhere in Western Australia, for free. Just call or text 0478 220 428.
